ADMIRAL STORM CENTER IN FALL TRIAL

HURLS BROADSIDE ANSWERS AT HIS HECTIC INQUISITOR

Government Naval Officer More Than a Match For the Prosecuting Attorney, Who Gets More Than He Is Looking For In the Dougherty Sea Officer—Supreme Court Upholds the Lower Courts In the Fall-Sinclair Teapot Dome Case.

The commonplace little court room where Albert B. Fall and Edward L. Doheny are on trial for criminal conspiracy was rocked Monday and Washington by a rumbling exchange between a pugnacious admiral and a quick-spoken and determined prosecutor.

The admiral witness was John K. Robison, a storm center of the oil controversy ever since the senate committee discovered three years ago that he approved, on behalf of the navy, the oil leasing policy of 1922. His cross examiner was Owen J. Roberts, who has built a national reputation for himself as a member of the government's special oil counsel.

Many of the verbal depth bombs launched by Roberts in the direction of the witness stand merely served the purpose of increasing the intensity of the broadsides that came back in reply. But once or twice the admiral showed signs of losing his sea legs.

He conceded he had been wrong in testifying previously that he had not talked to Doheny in New York about the Elk Hills lease. He permitted Roberts to correct from the official record what he had said about a navy department conference. In one quick exchange he agreed that he might have taken a different attitude had he known at the time that Doheny had advanced Fall $100,000 while Fall was in the cabinet.

Once he fairly shouted at his questioner that he was not the kind to trim his sails and make his testimony fit expediency.

The engagement lasted most of the day, and while it was at its height the government's special counsel received word of another major victory in another quarter. Upholding the action of the lower courts, a supreme court ruling threw out the protests of Fall and Harry F. Sinclair against their indictment for criminal conspiracy, and ordered them to trial. Roberts said he would ask for a trial date immediately following the conclusion of the present hearing, probably in January.

In many ways the two cases run parallel. Fall and Sinclair must face a jury as an outgrowth of the award of the Teapot Dome lease to Sinclair oil interests, just as Fall and Doheny now are on trial as a result of the Elk Hills lease to Doheny's Pan-American company.

In the Fall-Doheny case the government hinges its hope of conviction on the $100,000. In the Fall-Sinclair case it will hinge on allegations of the passage of a smaller sum between the principals.

Because of the time taken up in the questioning of Robison, Secretary Wilbur of the navy department did not testify and Frank J. Hogan, chief of the defense attorneys, said he

H. S. LEWIS TO SPEAK.

Mr. H. S. Lewis, of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, has been secured to speak at the annual meeting of the Pickaway County Cooperative Cream association next Saturday afternoon. This meeting will be held at the Farm Bureau office and is called for two o'clock, Central Standard time.

How It's Done

might not be called at all. Hogan originally subpoenaed the secretary to explain why he had warned Robison not to disclose "confidential information" to the jury, but the defense chief declared he was well satisfied with the admiral's testimony and might let the matter rest there.

The navy officer said over and over on the witness stand Monday that the then Secretary Denby and his subordinates in the navy department not only approved the leasing policies attributed by the prosecution to Fall, but were anxious that some arrangement be made speedily to have a supply of storage oil on hand at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii in case of emergency.

The compelling considerations in this policy were not deeply explored, but Roberts developed that the Pearl Harbor plans were under secret discussion at the moment the Washington arms conference was formulating a new peace deal in the Pacific.

FARM BUREAU.

The annual meeting of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau will be held in the Memorial hall, Thursday, January 20. M. D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation will be the principal speaker. Pickaway county is recognized as having the strongest farm bureau organization of any county in the state, with the present membership of 703, as compared with 491, January 1, 1925.

HOMER SHEFFIELD

After a national contest, Homer Sheffield, sixteen, of Crosby, Texas, has been declared the outstanding boys' agricultural club worker in the United States. He joined the Crosby club six years ago and since then has won every possible honor and scholarship in Texas. He is astute in business, and when cotton would bring only $50 per bale during a slump, he contracted with a mattress factory to make 10 mattresses from a bale for $100, selling them at $25 each. Thus he made a good profit while others lost.

Bottle Yields Sailor's Farewell 40 Years Ago

Halifax, N. S.—A farewell message from John Lee, master mariner, to his widowed mother, believed to have floated around the world in a bottle for nearly forty years, has been received here.

The bottle was picked up in the Baltic Sea at the Island of Borkum by a young German cable engineer and forwarded to the Premier of Nova Scotia. It read: "To whom it may concern: Tell mother I died fighting. John Lee, Master Mariner, Halifax." It was dated "May 17, '87."

The paper was faded gray and the writing very faint, but legible. Mrs. Lee died 35 years ago. The fate of her son's ship, which sailed from this port, was never known.

Today adds its achievements to yesterday's and passes it all on as a legacy to tomorrow.

Virginia's Czechoslovaks in Celebration

The first minister of the Czechoslovakian republic was honored at Petersburg, Va., when Minister Zdenek Ferlinger of Czechoslovakia bestowed on behalf of his government the order of the White Lion. The Czechoslovakian colony of Virginia, in native costumes, turned out to dance in honor of the occasion, while (just to the right of the man in uniform) Governor Byrd, Richard Crane and Mr. Ferlinger looked on.

RAILROAD ARMS ARE PASSING

Electric Lights Are Being Substituted on Most of the Roads.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The railroad semaphore, whose familiar lines have stood out so long against the sky in metropolis and tank town, is giving way to the march of industrial progress.

Reports to the American Railway association show that electric lights are being substituted for semaphore arms on most of the roads of the country. The electric signals are regarded as more economical, as well as more effective.

Three principal types of lighting have found favor. One involves the use of white lights only, so arranged as to reproduce the lines of the semaphore. Another type employs red, yellow and green lights to semaphore outline, and the third uses the colors individually, like street traffic lights in cities.

UNITED STATES*Paying Price of Destroying Her Forests.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 5.—America is beginning to pay the price for cutting off her forests and the thing will end only when re-forestry is carried on more than three times as fast as at present. Henry S. Graves, dean of Yale School of Forestry, recently sounded such a warning, adding, however, that the country is now "entering the stage of forest production."

"There are sections of the country that have been set back many years in industrial development by destruction of their chief resource," says Dean Graves. "Our problem," he explained, "concerns the productive use of nearly one-third of the country's land. We have to do with the sustaining of an important group of industries which give support to over six per cent of the population of our country."

Then the dean points out that "If we are to meet our needs for the future the growth of forests must be more than treble. It is our duty, among other things," he said, "to reproduce thrifty trees of good species on the 8,000,000 acres cut annually and to restore forests on 80,000,000 acres now producing nothing of potential value."

HENRY KAISER
CORN GROWER
IN COLUMBUS

Won First Prize and Given Trip to Ohio State University and Capital.

One day last spring our club leader told the club boys of our township that if we did not join the Pig club, we could join the Corn club, so I decided to raise corn. I rented an acre of ground from my father, on which the corn was raised.

I took ten ears of corn which I raised to the Circleville Pumpkin Show where I was awarded first prize which was a trip to Ohio State university. I started the fifteenth day of November. I arrived at Columbus about 10 o'clock that morning. I got off the interurban car, and was directed to the Hotel Columbus where I was to board during club week. That afternoon we went out at the university and organized into groups. I was put in group No. 8, each group had a leader. After we were organized into groups we went to the University hall where Dean Alfred Vivian of the College of Agriculture gave a speech. We went to the gymnasium that night, then retired for the night.

Every morning during club week except Saturday morning we went to the University hall for chapel and during the rest of the days we went to different buildings on the campus and other places of interest, such as the stadium, Capitol, AIU building and museum and many of the large stores. We had a conference Wednesday and Thursday afternoon which was a talk about 4-H club work.

Thursday evening we went to the University hall where some of the members of the Boys' and Girls' club gave a health play and the 4-H orchestra played music. Friday night we had a music contest which was directed by Miss Buchanan, who is music director of Ohio. We then went back to the hotel for our last night in Columbus.

Saturday morning around five hundred boys and girls had to part and leave for their homes to tell other people of their trip, and I thank the Farm bureau for giving me this trip which I enjoyed very much.

FEEDER CATTLE BROUGHT INTO THE CORN BELT

Pickaway Stands at the Head of the List of Ohio Counties in the Pool.

The National Live Stock Producers association have just closed one of the most remarkable live stock feeder projects ever attempted in the United States.

145,032 feeder lambs were purchased on the western and southwest ranges and consigned to the corn belt feed lots; 17,000 of these came to Ohio feed lots.

The total cost of these lambs to the purchaser was $1,001,350.50. The average weight of these lambs at loading point was 62 pounds. Average cost per cent hundred was $10.74. Average freight per cent hundred-weight was $1.00. Total freight charge of $85,373. A comparison of the total cost of same quality lambs at terminal market during the same period show a total net saving to patrons of the Pool of $81,845.58.

A Pool of Feeder cattle has been in operation, bringing feeder cattle from the west and southwest into corn belt feed lots. Upon the completion of this Pool a similar report will be made which will show an even greater profit to the patrons of the Pool.

Aside from the saving in price, one of the outstanding features is in the improved quality of the feeder stuff placed in the feeder lots.

Pickaway county is not a lamb feeding territory and did not participate in the lamb pool. Coshocton, Logan, Harding and Wyandott were the heaviest users of lambs. These four counties using 33 double decks, one man in Logan county feeding seven double decks of Mexican lambs. But Pickaway county stands at the head of the list of Ohio counties in feeder cattle purchased thru the pool. The following feeders purchased their supply thru Pickaway County Farm bureau:

Trout in Hawaii
The common American brook trout has adapted itself to Hawaii, development of the fish in the fresh waters of Kauai island indicate. During the last few years introduction of trout into Kauai streams has been undertaken by fish and game wardens. Trout fishing is becoming a favorite pastime. Several trout caught recently measured 12 inches and over.

AMUSEMENTS

Just how far a gentleman who prefers blondes will go was demonstrated last night at the Met theater during the initial unfolding of Douglas MacLean's latest farce-comedy, "Hold That Lion." The smiling comedian follows his blonde charmer around the world before he finally overtakes her in East Africa.

Out on the African veldt, MacLean finds the road to romance not only rocky but blocked by unsocial lions who take violent exception to his comic presence. His method of dealing and capturing the animals may be contrary to all rules of big game hunting but it is productive of an abundance of rip-roaring action and hilarious fun.

The above, of course, is merely a skeleton outline of this mad and merry yarn. It doesn't begin to touch upon the broad comedy gags, the laughable complications and the breathless thrills woven into the warp and woof of the story. One has to see MacLean dashing about blithely minus his trousers, or making love in a pair of stolen Scotch kilts or playing hide-and-seek with the frisky lions to appreciate just how funny this comedy really is.

MacLean, as usual, carries off the major portion of the acting honors, but he is ably assisted by a supporting cast of ample merit and experience. Constance Howard brings both pulchritude and personality to the role of leading lady. This picture, incidentally, marks her screen debut, and her performance stamps her as a definite "find." Walter Hiers, Cyril Chadwick Wade Boteler and George Pearce are a few of the others who acquit themselves with distinction.

William Beaudine has done a workmanlike job of the direction. The action is smooth, snappy and well sustained. There is no let down in the interest, and the suspense is maintained right up to the final foot of film. Colorful jungle backgrounds and beautiful photography contribute to the picture's pictorial attractiveness.

The City Loan is looking for dissatisfied people—folks who are not entirely pleased with things as they are—because they are the people who are interested in bettering their conditions and whom City Loan cash can help. It takes a little dissatisfaction to urge a fellow out of the rut of lazy ways on the high road of success. It's the parent of thrift—not drift. If your dissatisfaction has given birth to an ambition which requires a little money to back it up, a business of your own or an investment that will improve your circumstances or make life more comfortable for your family, come to The City Loan. "There's money in it," as the burglar said; and the combination that opens your vault is simply honesty and your own security. ANOTHER STATE INQUIRY LOOMS

Massachusetts G. O. P. Committee Further Is Accused.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 6.—The Republican State Committee, whose campaign expenditures are under the fire of the Liberal Civic League, today faced possible state investigation as well as that promised by Chairman James A. Reed, of the Senate Investigating Committee. A complaint filed today by Conrad W. Crooker, counsel for the league, charged violation of the law requiring disclosure of the names of contributors and of other sections of the elections law. The Attorney General was asked to act on the complaint, which named Howard Fall, Treasurer of the Republican State Committee, as respondent.

The campaign in which Crooker charges Republican organizations spent excessive amounts ended in the defeat of Senator William M. Butler by David I. Walsh, but in the election of the Republican state ticket.

Crooker today accused the committee of having failed to total their expenditures, of not accounting for the sources of large sums, and of expending sums in a manner not authorized by law. Crooker also declared that the discounting of notes for $15,000 for the committee by the American Trust Company, of Boston, was illegal.

THE ALMOST SUBMERGED KLAN

The Washington correspondent of The Kansas City Star expresses the opinion that Senator-elect Gould's victory in Maine, at least the emphatic nature of it, was more a Ku Klux Klan defeat than a G. O. P. triumph. He says that the result of the special election was a knockout blow to the Klan in Maine, the last state in the East where it had been supposed to retain any considerable political power. Gov. Brewster, a Klan sympathizer, who refused to support his party ticket, is down and out as a factor of importance in the Republican politics of Maine. Senator-elect Gould's wife and children are Catholics.

The Klan has had a bad political year. The defeat of Senator Means of Colorado by Charles W. Waterman, a defiant enemy of the hooded order, was a severe setback for it. Another outspoken foe of the Klan, Harry B. Hawes, was elected to the senate in Missouri. Almost defeated for re-election because of their K. K. alliances, Senators Watson and Robinson of Indiana are said to have sloughed off their sheets and pillowcases, material or spiritual, torn up their Klan cards and solemnly resolved never to be burned in that fire again. The Klan's only important victory of the year was the election of Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, a Democratic congressman, to the senate. He had the Klan support but in all its other major contests, in view of the subsequent desertion of the Indiana senators, it lost.

The Klan's race in politics is evidently about run. Yet we hear that representatives of the Ohio Klavern, or whatever they call it, are holding conferences with members-elect of our legislature and endeavoring to keep the Klan bloc alive and formidable this winter. Any legislator who allies himself with that bloc attaches himself to a lost cause, lost because it was unworthy. He injures his standing with fair-minded Americans and jeopardizes his own political prospects. In fact, our advice to legislators is to steer clear of all such blocs and their lobbyists. They don't want a man to serve Ohio primarily; they want him to serve them.—Columbus O. S. Journal.

MAKES LAND-

SCAPE RUG FROM SILK STOCKINGS

Dakota Woman Produces Elaborate East Indian Scene In Novel Creation.

Pierre, S. D., Dec. 5:—Anyone with artistic talents is welcome to imitate the ingenuity of Mrs. Osgood Johnson, of Pierre, who has on exhibition a rug made entirely of silk stockings and nether garments of silk.

While only an artist, perhaps, can appreciate certain phases of the piece of work, the ordinary person can appreciate how the rug was made. Using a burlap base, Mrs. Johnson chalked on her canvass-burlap the outlines of an East Indian scene. Then, with thin strips of the erstwhile apparel, she sewed through from the back, along the lines of her chalking.

When finished, the artist had before her two tigers in an East Indian ruins, with the sea for a background. Even to a person unversed in perspective and animal life as it should be applied to a depiction on a woven rug, there is attraction in the work.

The rug is black, but the tigers are life-like and the sea is of its usual placid blue. The interweaving of color schemes is the most remarkable thing about the rug.

After the picture-making was complete, the rug was sheared. Mrs. Johnson explains, making it smooth and regular.

Will Your Hearthside Gleam With Christmas Cheer?

A ruddy fire, a tinsel tree, soft glowing candles, sprigs of holly and mistletoe—of such is Christmas made. But they are only the outward signs of joy. They cannot be the making of it. Real happiness comes from the manifest love of family and friends and from comfort in the home. Christmas is the time when kindred spirits assemble and Home is the meeting place. Is yours in welcoming condition? Will you be proud of it when your guests arrive? Ease and luxury depend on appearance as well as comfort. Shabbiness detracts from happiness and that feeling of well-being that belongs to the holidays. Don't let it ruin your Christmas cheer; it probably can be easily remedied. Let Santa plan to cozy up every cranny and nook that yours may be a Christmas home. Better see him about it right away.

Your Home Should Come First

First impressions are often lasting. That's why hallways should be faultlessly attired. However, first glances aren't all they receive for they're the spots where lingering callers take their farewells. A table just large enough for candles—and cards, topped by a gleaming, graceful mirror is what the hallway most depends upon for its impression.

FORCE REPORT

Inquiry Into School's Affairs

Made by Detective After

Negro Papers Charges.

Columbus, Dec. 6.—Results of an inquiry he has made into affairs of Wilberforce University, Xenia, will be submitted today to Attorney General Crabbe by Sheridan A. Bruseaux, Chicago, private detective.

The inquiry was started after charges of irregularities at Wilberforce were made by Ira T. Bryant, editor of the "Young Albenite," Nashville, in his publication, which is an organ of members of the Afro-American Methodist church. The church, with appropriated state aid, operates the school.

Offices of Mr. Crabbe and State Auditor Tracy were consulted before Bruseaux began his work and they lent their co-operation. He has obtained names of persons and copies of records which he will submit with his report, he said last night.

Among these will be results of an investigation conducted in 1919 by T. Howard Winters, John J. Rocheson and H. B. Williams under Governor Cox, and which resulted in a bill making changes in the personnel of the university being passed by the legislature.

The bill was vetoed by Governor Cox, who said factional quarrels at the university warranted a change at the time inadvisable, and because basic facts had not been discovered on which to base official action.

HOW A FLOR-

IDA RIVER

Was Selected To Be Immortalized In Song.

The manner in which the "Suwannee River" came to be immortalized in a well-known American ballad is told by Galli-Curci, the famous opera singer, in an article in this week's Liberty. Saying that Stephen Foster's simple melody, "Old Folks at Home," is the most popular one she sings, even before audiences in other parts of the world, Galli-Curci writes:

"One summer afternoon Morrison, brother of Stephen, was sitting in his office overlooking the Monongahela River in Pittsburgh. He was engaged at his desk and scarcely noticed that someone had entered the office. Glancing up, he perceived Stephen.

"Well, Stephy," his brother greeted him—Stephy being the family nickname—"what is puzzling you today?" "Do you know the name of a Southern river in two syllables?" asked Stephen. "How about Yazoo?" suggested Morrison, after some deliberation.

"Been used before," was the laconic rejoinder," Galli-Curci points out. "Whereupon," she continues, "Morrison took down an atlas and turned to a large map of the United States. After a brief search Stephen gave an exclamation of delight and, pointing to a small river emptying into the Gulf of Mexico, said: 'That's it. That's it exactly.' Grabbing his hat he hurried out of the room without saying another word.

"That day an inconspicuous little river in Florida was immortalized in song," says Galli-Curci, explaining that the first line of Foster's song was changed then from "Way down upon the old plantation" to "Way Down Upon the Suwannee River."

PRIZE WINNER IN FOOD CLUB WRITES STORY

Dorothy Anderson Tells of Circleville Men are at Head of Growing Financial Institution.

Being awarded first prize in Food club work, in the county, I received the trip to Columbus offered to winners of first place in club work.

We left Circleville on the 9:10 car and arrived in Columbus at 10:20. We were met by Mr. Long, the assistant state club leader of the Ohio State university. He then took us to the New Southern hotel where we were registered and assigned to our rooms.

At 12 o'clock a chaperon took us to the Harmony restaurant for our midday meal, and at 2:30 we were divided into groups to go from the hotel to the Ohio State University hall where we assembled for chapel. In the service Dean Alfred Vivian, or Grandpa Vivian, which he told us to call him, extended a hearty welcome to the boys and girls from the different counties all over the good Buckeye state. After singing a few selections of songs, groups were organized and certain groups went to the Methodist and Northminster Presbyterian churches at 5:30 for supper. A "fun-fest" at the gymnasium of the armory was a pleasant feature. We retired at 9:30 o'clock.

Tuesday morning at 7:45 we breakfasted at Northminster Presbyterian church, after which we assembled for chapel at University hall where we were addressed by Mrs. C. E. Lively. The subject of her address was "Courtesy." Then at 9:30 we went to Campbell hall where Miss Fannie Buchanan gave a talk on music appreciation and started a music contest, the date of which was the following Friday evening. Dr. E. R. Hayhurst addressed us at 10:30 at Menkahn laboratory on "Keeping Well Here." In his speech several good points were stressed which everyone should observe. We ate lunch at noon.

We met again for chapel at University hall at 2 o'clock and in invitation ceremony and Posture play were given by club members of Licking county which was greatly enjoyed by all. At Campbell hall at 3 o'clock Mrs. Grace Walker gave a very interesting talk on "My Room."

Points of interest on the campus were visited at four. Some of them were the library and museum, the museum being a place of great interest to the club. At 5:30 we had supper and at 6:30 we were entertained by a show, "Boys and Girls from Other Lands." Wednesday forenoon at 7:45 we had breakfast and then at nine assembled at chapel, after which at 9:30 we were addressed by Miss Gladys Coon at Inez hall. Then at 10:30 we went to Campbell hall for Music Appreciation talk by Miss Buchanan. We dined at noon and at two o'clock we visited room 112, in Northland building, where Mr. C. C. Long held a club conference. We went to Chapel hall at 4 where we met the Master Farmers of Buckeye state. Senator Capper also delivered an address. At 5:30 we had supper and at 6:30 an entertainment at chapel.

Thursday morning 7:45 breakfast, and at 9 we went to Chapel hall where Professor A. C. Hottes gave a talk and at noon we had dinner. At 2 we visited room 205, Horticulture building. At 3 we enjoyed a music appreciation given by Miss Buchanan. All groups visited the campus at 4 and at 5:30 we had supper. Then we enjoyed a Fashion show given by Miss Gladys Coon. Friday afternoon we enjoyed a Beauty show given by Miss Coon and at 4 we visited the campus again. A program was given at 6:30 in Chapel hall, invocation by Rev. O. C. Weist, presentation of scholarship and trips by Dean Vivian, Music contest by Miss Jennie Buchanan, Health Circle by Miss Coon.

The groups in room 22 staged a farewell party at our room in the hotel. Saturday forenoon at 8:15 we left Columbus bound for home. Although we had been friends for only one short week, we were sorry to part so soon. We arrived home Saturday morning, tired and sleepy, but having thoroughly enjoyed our trip and thinking our summer work well repaid.

Dorothy Anderson.

THE BRUNSON SAVINGS BANK IS PROSPERING

Circleville Men are at Head of Growing Financial Institution.

The Brunson Savings bank of 145 North High street, Columbus, a financial institution well known in this city whose founder was a former Circleville boy, William Rindsfoos, has enlarged its quarters and is now one of the leading savings banks in the Capital City. The savings bank was started in 1916, and its growth has been phenomenal, starting with resources of not more than $100,000 in 1916, the present consolidated assets are close to the $5,000,000 mark.

The growth of the bank during 1926 has been particularly rapid, partly to be accounted for by the fact that the bank began on the first of the year to pay six per cent on six months certificates of deposit.

The Brunson Savings bank is the loan correspondent of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance company of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, having jurisdiction over the entire state of Ohio, excepting Toledo and Cleveland. All investments made by the insurance company are handled thru the Brunson bank, the investment department being separate and distinct from the life insurance end of the business.

The personnel of the Brunson Savings bank is William Rindsfoos, president; Charles S. Rindsfoos, vice president and James F. Caldwell, secretary.

William Rindsfoos, president, was the prime mover in the organization of the Brunson Savings & Loan Co. 10 years ago. Prior to that time he had operated a department store in Circleville, the place of his birth.

His chief hobby is, and always has been, that of big game hunting. Begun originally for health and sport this pastime developed into something more serious, and for some years past, Rindsfoos has had the sanction and cooperation of the Smithsonian institution, Washington D. C. His field has been the northwest, including Alaska, British Columbia, Alberta and Yukon territory, where he has gone annually to map the geographical boundaries of habitats of the various species of sheep, bear and goat. Incidentally, Rindsfoos discovered one new sub-species of grizzly which the Smithsonian named after him. He has also taken a deep interest in the new natural history museum at Ohio State university, of which he is an honorary curator.

James F. Caldwell, secretary, was one of the founders of the Brunson Savings & Loan Co., is its most active officer. Previous to coming to Columbus he was postmaster and merchant at Irwin.

The friendship and business relationship between Mr. Caldwell and William Rindsfoos was the natural outcome of Mr. Caldwell's marriage to the latter's sister, Miss Mary Rindsfoos.

Charles S. Rindsfoos, vice president is a native of this county. After leaving high school he entered Cornell university from which he graduated with the degree of civil engineer in 1906. He has written numerous technical articles and books, has lectured regularly at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is a member of the Engineers' club of New York, the Cornell club of New York, Theta Xi fraternity and the Lake Waramang county club of New Preston, Conn., where he has his summer home.

Bird of the Ocean

The albatross is thought to be able to stay in the air longer than any other bird. This is because of its great length of upper arm and forearm and because the number of flight feathers carried on the wing exceeds that of any other bird. Albatrosses will follow vessels for days at a time and they are almost the only visible inhabitants of the wastes of the southern oceans.

ADMIRAL STORM CENTER IN FALL TRIAL

HURLS BROADSIDE ANSWERS AT HIS HECTIC INQUISITOR

Government Naval Officer
More Than a Match For the Prosecuting Attorney, Who Gets More Than He Is Looking For In the Doughty Sea Officer—Supreme Court Upholds the Lower
Courts in the Fall-Sinclair
Teapot Dome Case.

The commonplace little court room where Albert B. Fall and Edward L. Doheny are on trial for criminal conspiracy was rocked Monday and Washington by a rumbling exchange between a pugnacious admiral and a quick-spoken and determined prosecutor.

The admiral witness was John K. Robison, a storm center of the oil controversy ever since the senate committee discovered three years ago that he approved, on behalf of the navy, the oil leasing policy of 1922. His cross examiner was Owen J. Roberts, who has built a national reputation for himself as a member of the government's special oil counsel.

Many of the verbal depth bombs launched by Roberts in the direction of the witness stand merely served the purpose of increasing the intensity of the broadsides that came back in reply. But once or twice the admiral showed signs of losing his sea legs.

He conceded he had been wrong in testifying previously that he had not talked to Doheny in New York about the Elk Hills lease. He permitted Roberts to correct from the official record what he had said about a navy department conference. In one quick exchange he agreed that he might have taken a different attitude had he known at the time that Doheny had advanced Fall $100,000 while Fall was in the cabinet.

Once he fairly shouted at his questioner that he was not the kind to trim his sails and make his testimony fit expediency.

The engagement lasted most of the day, and while it was at its height the government's special counsel received word of another major victory in another quarter. Upholding the action of the lower courts, a supreme court ruling threw out the protests of Fall and Harry F. Sinclair against their indictment for criminal conspiracy, and ordered them to trial. Roberts said he would ask for a trial date immediately following the conclusion of the present hearing, probably in January.

In many ways the two cases run parallel. Fall and Sinclair must face a jury as an outgrowth of the award of the Teapot Dome lease to Sinclair oil interests, just as Fall and Doheny now are on trial as a result of the Elk Hills lease to Doheny's Pan-American company.

In the Fall-Doheny case the government hinges its hope of conviction on the $100,000. In the Fall-Sinclair case it will hinge on allegations of the passage of a smaller sum between the principals.

Because of the time taken up in the questioning of Robison, Secretary Wilbur of the navy department did not testify and Frank J. Hogan, chief of the defense attorneys, said he

Mr. H. S. Lewis, of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, has been secured to speak at the annual meeting of the Pickaway County Cooperative Cream association next Saturday afternoon. This meeting will be held at the Farm Bureau office and is called for two o'clock, Central Standard time.

How It's Done

might not be called at all. Hogan originally subpoenaed the secretary to explain why he had warned Robison not to disclose "confidential information" to the jury, but the defense chief declared he was well satisfied with the admiral's testimony and might let the matter rest there.

The navy officer said over and over on the witness stand Monday that the then Secretary Denby and his subordinates in the navy department not only approved the leasing policies attributed by the prosecution to Fall, but were anxious that some arrangement be made speedily to have a supply of storage oil on hand at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii in case of emergency.

The compelling considerations in this policy were not deeply explored, but Roberts developed that the Pearl Harbor plans were under secret discussion at the moment the Washington arms conference was formulating a new peace deal in the Pacific.

FARM BUREAU.

The annual meeting of the Pickaway County Farm bureau will be held in the Memorial hall, Thursday, January 20. M. D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation will be the principal speaker. Pickaway county is recognized as having the strongest farm bureau organization of any county in the state, with the present membership of 703, as compared with 491, January 1, 1925.

HOMER SHEFFIELD

After a national contest, Homer Sheffield, sixteen, of Crosby, Texas, has been declared the outstanding boys' agricultural club worker in the United States. He joined the Crosby club six years ago and since then has won every possible honor and scholarship in Texas. He is astute in business, and when cotton would bring only $50 per bale during a slump, he contracted with a mattress factory to make 10 mattresses from a bale for $100, selling them at $25 each. Thus he made a good profit while others lost.

Bottle Yields Sailor's

Farewell 40 Years Ago

Halifax, N. S.—A farewell message from John Lee, master mariner, to his widowed mother, believed to have floated around the world in a bottle for nearly forty years, has been received here.

The bottle was picked up in the Baltic Sea at the Island of Bornum by a young German cable engineer and forwarded to the Premier of Nova Scotia. It read: "To whom it may concern: Tell mother I died fighting. John Lee, Master Mariner, Halifax." It was dated "May 17, '87."

The paper was faded gray and the writing very faint, but legible. Mrs. Lee died 35 years ago. The fate of her son's ship, which sailed from this port, was never known.

Today adds its achievements to yesterday's and passes it all on as a legacy to tomorrow.

Virginia's Czechoslovaks in Celebration

Music Nerve in Foot, Swiss Scientist Says

According to the Swiss scientist, Hoeppli, the nerve center which registers and transmits the reaction to the pleasure we experience in hearing music is situated in the foot at a point just under the bend of the metatarsus, the five bones between the ankle and the bones of the toe. The nerve spot which reacts to musical rhythm also is situated in the feet close to the first phalanx or big toe.

This, says M. Hoeppli, explains why the majority of people listening to music insistently and quite unconsciously beat time with their feet.

The bunch of nerves controlling the faculty to dance rhythmically lies in the tarsus along the bone known anatomically as the "astragal" or the "ballista."

M. Hoeppli does not explain how he reached these curious discoveries and does not substantiate them. It is stated that he also is an accomplished musician.

JESSE POMEROY.

This week Jesse Pomeroy, most famed among American prisoners, celebrated his fifty-first year in prison. He entered the forbidding walls which were to shut him from comradeship with his fellows of the world when he was but 17. He had been sentenced to solitary confinement for life for murder of a child. Numerous efforts were made to have him pardoned or paroled. All failed.

Jesse Pomeroy could not know the world of today; the procession of life long ago passed him by. He possesses the lingering shreds and tatters of existence, but that is all. His mind can hold no affinity with the things that are—with the wondrous miracles of physical achievement which have become the commonplace of the life of the present.

More than a half century in prison! Perhaps the passage of the leaden years have numbed his sensibilities to insensitive slumber. Perhaps he still is capable of intensive mental suffering. Who shall say? But the chances are that he now is indifferent to the idiosyncracies of Fate—that he is but an organism that mechanically eats, sleeps, wakes again to consciousness of the demands of a rigid, sordid routine.

But could the fate of Jesse Pomeroy be visualized as a probable certainty by the criminal depredator of today there assuredly would be less criminal activity in the major fields of lawless assault upon society.

This case imposes another lesson. The smug-faced and well-content, the average "respectable" citizen may not be too deeply impressed by this immolation of a human life upon the altar of—shall we say justice?—but there are more forms of imprisonment than one. Many a man now walking the ways of life, breathing the sweet airs of physical freedom, is as surely doomed to remorseless, relentless imprisonment for all the years of his existence as is Jesse Pomeroy. Men are held by the bondage of ignorance, of superstition, of vice, of pride, of intolerance quite as much and more often than by prison bars. Perhaps these are more to be pitied than Jesse Pomeroy, who has rusted toward awesome decay, mental and physical, through half a century in his grim Massachusetts prison.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

BRITISH ADMIRAL

Likened To the "Boy Who Stood on the Burning Deck" By His Wife, Formerly Ethel Field, of Chicago.

Reigate, England, Dec. 6.—Admiral of the Fleet Earl Beatty was the object of railery from Lady Beatty as he stood last night on the roof of his residence, Reigate Priory, directing the fire fighters in quenching a blaze.

Standing amid a group of dinner guests who had rushed out of the house when the fire was discovered on the roof, Lady Beatty, who was Ethel Field, daughter of Marshal Field of Chicago, twitted the admiral about being the boy who stood on the burning deck and with his inability to resist the opportunity for taking command.

Earl Beatty had reached the roof by climbing up a gutter pipe, and under his direction the firemen put out the blaze.

SENATOR IS DEAD AT HOME IN ILLINOIS

William B. McKinley Passed Away After a Long Illness of Cancer.

The body of United States Senator William B. McKinley, who died at Martinsville, Indiana, late Tuesday afternoon, will be taken to his home in Champaign, Illinois.

Senator McKinley's death followed an illness which necessitated his entering a hospital during the latter part of August. Several times during his confinement he had been near death but until Tuesday afternoon his dominant will had kept him alive. Death resulted from prostatic cancer. The senator was 70 years old.

According to announcement the funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon from the First Presbyterian church in Champaign.

For 20 years Senator McKinley was prominent in congress. The last six were spent in the senate.

Beginning life as a poor clerk his first job paid him $4.50 per week. He became one of the dominant factors in middlewestern transportation and he was reputed to be one of the wealthiest men in congress.

In recent years he conducted a campaign of donations to charitable institutions and during the last ten years is said to have donated in the neighborhood of ten million dollars in public and private philanthropies.

MONDAY CLUB MEETING WAS MUSICAL ONE

The music department of the Monday club had charge of the program at the meeting of November 6. Italian opera was the topic for the evening and the consideration of three of the compositions of Giacomo Puccini afforded a most interesting study. Miss Jeannette Rowe read a biography of Puccini and a synopsis of "La Boheme" which is his masterpiece. Selections from this opera were sung by Mrs. Harry Heffner and Miss Helen Marion.

Mrs. Evan Reichelderfer gave a review of Puccini's new opera, "Tirondot" which has just lately been produced.

Mrs. Christian Schwarz told the story of "Madame Butterfly." Selections from this opera consisting of a song "One Fine Day" by Mrs. Clark Will, a duet by Mrs. Will and Miss Marion and a piano arrangement of "The Waiting Motive" played by Miss Anna Schleyer were interpolated during the telling of the story. Miss Abbe M. Clarke accompanied the singers.

AMUSEMENTS

The trickiest, funniest, fastest football game ever played. That's what you'll see in Paramount's latest Richard Dix comedy, "The Quarterback" which arrives at the Met theater today. Richard and his pal, David Butler, are working their way thru Colton by means of a milk delivery route. To speed matters up, they utilize their football knowledge and send their bottles whizzing thru the air. Then—when they actually get in the game—action starts and never stops till the final whistle blows.

But there's much more to "The Quarterback" than just a football game! W. O. McGeehan and William Slavens McNutt have provided Director Fred Newmeyer with a real story. And in its transfer to the screen, nary a thing has been lost.

"The Quarterback" opens with an 1899 prologue. The star quarterback of Colton college, Harry Beresford, has proposed to Mona Palma. She accepts with the proviso that he remain at school until Colton beats her ancient rival, State. Some twenty-seven years later, he is still "one of the boys." Mona has died and his son now plays dad's old position.

Richard is infatuated with Esther Ralston, a State co-ed. Their romance flourishes until the day of the big game. Then—come a series of startling surprises. Things start to go wrong and—well, why try to describe it?

See "The Quarterback" Richard Dix has never had a better vehicle!

The lessons of life must be learned page at a time.

His decalogue is as follows: 1. Thou shalt not insult people; 2. Thou shalt not take revenues by force; 3. Thou shalt not commandeer vehicles or impress coolies; 4. Thou shalt not enter private residences; 5. Thou shalt not raid houses or search passersby for contraband without permission; 6. Thou shalt not interfere with the majesty of the law; 7. Thou shalt not occupy Confucian temples or schools; 8. Thou shalt search for undesirables only in co-operation with the police; 9. ## CLUB WINNERS OF PICKAWAY IN COLUMBUS

Irene Baird of Deercreek, Gives Splendid Account of Trip.

Can you imagine in the homes of some over four hundred, everything peaceable, secluded and calm Monday morning, November 15? No, I hardly think you can, for it not only marked the twelfth annual 4-H Club Week in Ohio, but also ushered in the rabbit season for the ninth time, if not more. Probably this is one of the reasons for the absence of so many boys. Probably others would have liked to have been hunting, too; I think they will all confess now they are glad they went and will always afterwards seize the opportunity to do so.

Nevertheless, over four hundred of Dean Vivian's grandchildren, as he called us, who were either representatives or club winners from all over the state of Ohio arrived in Columbus sometime Monday morning. Grandpa Vivian said that he was supposed to be in Washington D. C. last week attending the session of the Land Grant Colleges association; but he was here, he said, because he would rather stay with his family. And the family, by the way, included at Club Week 280 girls, 132 boys, 24 chaperones and nine officers, a total of 445.

The club winners from Pickaway county attending were as follows: Dorothy Anderson, of Pickaway township, representing Logan Elm Food club; Henry Kaiser, of Walnut township, representing the Corn club and Laura Tener and myself, of Deercreek township, representing the Live Wire Clothing club. We were taken to Columbus early Monday morning on the traction car. We went to the Southern hotel while Mr. C. C. Long directed Henry to the Columbus hotel.

After registering, we were taken to our rooms by the bellboys. We girls with the Pike county girls were roommates at 542 on the fifth floor. After inspecting our new home, we were directed to the restaurant across the street from the hotel for lunch.

Our first meeting was at 3 o'clock at University hall on the campus. After being given a glad welcome by Grandpa Vivian, as we were introduced to him and singing songs, we were organized into groups. Mr. C. C. Long had charge of this. Several counties were grouped together and over each one was a chaperon and over each company was a major.

Mrs. Hines from Wayne county was our chaperon and Mr. L. B. Mayer from Paulding county our major. We three girls from Pickaway with the Wayne, Perry and Pike county girls were in group 22. This meeting was called chapel and each and every morning excepting Friday when we went down town to Lazarus' department store, Capitol, 10c Store, etc. This is where we assembled to the devotionals, singing, yells and be told where we were scheduled for the day.

At 5:30 we were taken to supper. The groups were divided, part going to Northminster Presbyterian church, others to King avenue M. E. church. At both places the menu, made of up of wholesome foods, were planned by the Nutrition department, but the ladies of these churches carried them out. We ate all of our meals here excepting Friday and Saturday mornings. Then we ate at the hotel.

In the evening we were taken to the gymnasium or rather armory where most of us entered in games such as; taking hogs to market, donkey, etc. This, as you know, was enjoyed by all and to cap the climax we were served refreshments of cakes and brick ice cream. We then got on the street car, or rather cars, for we couldn't all get on one and if many more did I pity the car for it just seemed to tremble as it was with our shouting voices, especially after being taught to yell loud at assembly and armory. We girls were taken direct to the hotel and can you imagine everything quiet at the Southern hotel after 280 girls arrived? Can you imagine how long we slept? If you had been there you could have told by our looks especially Saturday morning after the last night.

Tuesday morning found everybody wide awake (if you can believe it) and down in the lobby ready to go to breakfast at the church. Many interesting things were scheduled for that day. At assembly Mrs. C. E. Lively gave a talk on Courtesy in which she

Music Appreciation was given by Miss Fannie Buchanan from the Victor Talking Machine Co., Camden, New Jersey, in which she showed us how to appreciate good music when we heard it. To still hold our interest more she gave a music memory contest Friday night at university hall. There were several perfect scores; more she said than she had ever seen at any of the places where she had been in the United States. Aren't you proud of Grandpa Vivian's grandchildren and Ohio's sons and daughters?

Other features of the day were as follows: How to keep well in Columbus while there by Dr. E. R. Hayhurst. My Room, by Mrs. Grace Walker. This was the rearranging of a disorderly room by several girls of the Ohio State university. Posture play, by Miss Wanda Przyluska. The main thread being, it isn't the load that breaks us down, it's the way we carry it. Also Initiation Ceremony, by Willing Workers' club of Licking county. In this we learned many new ideas to carry back home to make our clubs better.

Almost every evening before supper we were given from an hour to an hour and a half to visit places of interest on the campus. Our group visited the museum, Ohio State library, stadium, greenhouse, radio station WEAO and various other buildings.

It seems as tho the most interesting things were held at night at the University hall, when all groups both boys and girls met they were as follows: The Value of Jewels, by Miss Gladys Coon, of the National Dairy council, Chicago, Illinois. The jewels were green vegetables, fruits, bath tubs, beds, eight to nine hours sleep etc. Picture show of boys and girls of other lands and America and presentation of scholarships and prizes by Grandpa Vivian. The Fashion show in which the main thing was good health leads the mode in the fashion show of life and the Health Circus also by Miss Coon. Musical pantomime and contest, which I have mentioned before by Miss Buchanan and last but not least the picture show "A Kiss for Cinderella." In the 5-H Gazette, which was published daily during club week there was found this article. Lost: Mr. Ward said we would receive a kiss for Cinderella last evening. We would like to know if any of the boys who were searching for Cinderella found her?

The most important happenings during the remainder of the week besides what we have mentioned were the 4-H conferences, one of the new features which has been said in our gazette showed that club members were thinking more in terms of leadership than ever before. At these conferences we decided what the object of club work was. It being to use the best ways of doing things on the farm and in the home as a means of training boys and girls in 4-H life. The 4-H life consists of Heart, Health, Hand and Head. The other event of club week was the meeting of the Master farmers. Mr. John Stevenson, of Jackson township, was selected from Pickaway county. At this meeting Senator Capper, of Kansas, gave the remarks. We were interested in his personality, as well as intellectually for it was the first time I expect the majority of us had ever seen a United States senator.

From all the interesting things, which I have dictated, I know every boy and girl will be anxious to make the best better in next year's work and see them with their own eyes. I encourage them to do so. It will be the experience of their lives, it is not only educational but a lot of fun as well.

I wish to thank all who in any way helped to make my last year of Clothing club work so successful and the people of the Ohio State university in behalf of the clubs of '26 for the interesting things we saw and heard and for the good times we had.

Irene Baird.

Lesson for December 12

THE BOY SAMUEL

LESSON TEXT—I Sam. 3:10, 15-19. GOLDEN TEXT—Speak, Lord, for thy servant heareth. PRIMARY TOPIC—The Boy Samuel. J. UNIOR TOPIC—God Calls the Boy Samuel. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Boyhood of a Great Leader. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Hearing and Heeding God's Voice.

In order to grasp the story of Samuel's boyhood life, a survey should be made of I Samuel, ch. 1-3.

I. Samuel Given in Answer to Prayer (I Sam. 1:10, 20).

The name Samuel means "asked of God." He was given to Hannah in answer to her prayers. In connection with her asking this gift from God, she vowed to give him to God. He was to be therefore a Nazirite all the days of his life.

II. Samuel Given to the Lord (I Sam. 1:24-28).

For a time he was cared for by his mother in the home. The best nurse and teacher for a child is its mother. According to her vow when she asked the Lord for this child, at an early age she took him to the sanctuary and gave him over to the charge of Eli, the priest, to minister in the sanctuary.

III. Features of Israel's History in This Period (2:12-36).

1. The demoralized priesthood.

(1) They were actuated by greed (2:12-17).

It was God's will that those who ministered at the altar should live of the things of the altar, but they broke through the divine regulations touching this matter, even to securing their selfish ends by force.

(2) Gross immorality (2:22).

The courts of God's house were thus polluted. The condition of the nation was most appalling: Degradation and ruin follow rapidly when God's ministers are under the sway of lust and greed.

2. An alienated people (2:30-32).

Their sins separated them from God. God's holiness is such that those who practice sin are alienated from Him.

3. The cessation of divine revelation (3:1).

The Word of God was precious in those days. "There was no open vision." This shows that God was silent. The message from the Lord was more a memory than a present experience. The same thing in principle is true of the individual life today. Some who once enjoyed fellowship with God no longer hear His voice speaking to them.

IV. God Called Samuel (3:2-10).

In striking contrast with the degeneracy of the nation, we have before us the beautiful life of Samuel. Dwelling within the sacred courts and ministering before the Lord with Eli is the innocent Samuel who is become the savior of his people. In Samuel we have a striking pattern of child religion. The Lord gave him in answer to Hannah's prayer. From his birth he was dedicated to the Lord. While quite young his mother took him to the sanctuary of the Lord where he served and slept. Two traits in Samuel's character stand out in this call, namely, his cheerful obedience to the Lord's call and his surrendered will. He expressed his willingness before he knew what was required. He did not inquire what was wanted and then let his obedience depend upon its suiting him. We should believe that the Lord knows what is best and be willing to yield glad obedience to His commands.

V. Samuel's First Prophetic Message (3:11-18).

Up to this time Samuel obeyed the one who was over him, but the time had now come when he must directly hear and obey the Lord. The first message entrusted to him was a most terrible one. To deliver it was a most trying task. He hesitated to tell it to Eli, but when pressed by him he manifested the true courage which was lying back of his fear. It must have been a bitter experience to Eli to see Samuel recognized and himself passed by, but he was submissive. He knew that the slight was just. He could not fall to interpret it thus in view of the appearance of the man of God to him (2:27-36). This fearful visitation upon Eli's house was due to the sins of his sons. He was held accountable for not restraining them.

VI. Samuel Established in the Prophetic Office (3:19-21).

"And Samuel grew and the Lord was with him and did let none of His words fall to the ground and all Israel from Dan even to Beersheba knew that Samuel was established to be a prophet of the Lord."

WILD GEESE AS MISSIONARIES

Negroes in Atlanta found a message from the Bible attached to the legs of a wild goose and immediately a religious revival was inaugurated such as Georgia communities had not witnessed for many years. Then another goose bearing a Bible quotation was brought down and the revival gained momentum. Next word came from the north that an Indian settlement in the Hudson Bay country was aroused by a similar occurrence. That fanned the flames of revival until the revival was red hot. Surely the world was coming to an end, the negroes told one another.

But one Jack Miner, who lives near Windsor, Ontario, had to go and spoil the wonderful story. He let it be known that the geese all came from his 30-acre farm. As many as 9,000 wild geese visited Miner's farm during the past year. He enticed them by means of several Canada geese whose wings he clipped, which he keeps on the place as decoys. Last year it took more than 4,000 bushels of corn on the cob and nearly 7,000 bushels of shelled corn to feed the visitors. Whistling swans and various other birds also visit the Miner farm. Miner was interested to know the range of birds during their migrations, so he tagged many of the wild geese and later he had messages from the Bible printed on these tags.

"Who knows into whose hands these messages will fall and what effect they will have?" he reasoned. "Wild geese may be turned into missionaries." And it seems that they have been.—The Pathfinder.
